Mt. Laurel, NJ – February 9, 2018

Everingham & Kerr, Inc. announced today that Advanced GeoServices Corp. (“AGC”) has been acquired by Montrose Environmental Group, Inc. (“Montrose”).

Founded in 1992, AGC is a specialty engineering company providing high quality environmental, geotechnical, civil/site land planning, surveying, landscape architecture, water/wastewater, and municipal engineering services. AGC services a wide array of sectors including industrial, commercial/retail, medical/education/institution, residential, energy & infrastructure, and government sectors. AGC is headquartered in West Chester, Pennsylvania with regional offices in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, Fair Lawn, New Jersey, Cherry Hill, New Jersey, and Westlake, Ohio. For more information, please visit <http://www.advancedgeoservices.com/>.

Montrose is an environmental services provider offering measurement and analytical services as well as environmental resiliency and sustainability solutions to clients across a wide array of sectors. Montrose’s qualified engineers, scientists, technicians, associates, and policy experts are proud of their collective expertise and the collaborative nature of our approach to helping clients. Montrose strives to optimize environmental resiliency in a way that effectively complements its clients’ decision-making and operations and efficiently fulfills their project requirements. Headquartered in Orange County, California, Montrose has over 50 offices across the country and over 1,000 employees nationwide.
